Supreme Court involvement eyed

Bambini experts receive State survey information

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
Attorneys representing Cinque Bambini Partnership and several Hancock County landowners have apparently received all the state's survey information in an ongoing trial to determine waterfront property ownership.

The Gulfport Chancery Court trial, now in its third week, may determine the location of a mean high water mark indicating state and private property boundaries.

However, the presiding chancellor has allowed a 'free flow of information' throughout the trial and justified his ruling by informing attorneys the testimony would be beneficial to the State Supreme Court.

Joining the property owners in their suit against the state is Phillips Petroleum Co. of Houston, Tex. The company has leased minerals in the northern portion of the Bambini property located along a portion of Jourdan River.

Saga Petroleum Co., also of Houston and a co-defendant, has leased some 600 acres in the Bambini claim from the state.

The state has basically contended it owns property where the tide ebbs and flows, whereas Bambini claims it owns property based on land grant documents and a 'headlands' consideration in the public trust doctrine. During the last few days of the trial, the Bambini attorneys requested and received tidal information, mean high water mark coordinates and survey maps requested earlier in the trial.

However, the state contends it has provided information and the Bambini requests have been efforts to secure favorable publicity.

Chancellor William Stewart Tuesday said he does not read newspaper accounts of trials in which he is presiding.

FRIDAY'S PROCEEDINGS THE 10TH DAY

Cpt. Wesley V. Hull, associate director of the National Oceanographic and Atmospheric Administration's National Ocean Survey office in Rockville, Md. was cross examined by the complainant's attorneys.

The state then introduced its second witness, George Cole, president of Florida Engineering Services Corp. of Tallahassee.

In cross examination by L. Arnold Pyle, a Bambini attorney, Hull explained his involvement in litigated waterfront ownership cases in other states.

The associate director said in Sept., 1980, Paul O'Hargan, president of Craven Thompson, requested NOS data for Hancock waters, but only preliminary data was available.

"That was probably the best information available at the time," Hull stated.

After continued questioning by Pyle regarding details surrounding O'Hargan's information request, Holleman stated, "The floor will be littered with objections."

Chancellor William L. Stewart, Division One-Eighth Chancery Court District of Mississippi, suggested a stipulation might be made to accept O'Hargan's survey as being accurate.

Pyle stated, "The expense, travel and effort to go to Rockville was to see what we could stipulate to. This witness seemed not to want to talk about this..."

"He's making it appear to the court that we made a survey without proper identification," he added.

Boyce Holleman of Gulfport, a Saga attorney, stated 'there's not much difference' in the state and Bambini mean high water surveys.

Stewart asked, "Will there be a and it has been successful in oyster production, according to Demoran.

A third benefit would be the establishment of a fishing area because speckle trout like to feed around oyster reefs.

Demoran commented, "It would be a benefit to the sports fishermen."

After viewing the hole Demoran stated, "You go into it without warning, it has such soft mud in it."

Demoran reported that the Gulf Coast Research Lab and the Bureau of Marine Resources work very closely on problems like the hole.

He indicated the possibility of needing a permit and felt one could be gotten from the U.S. Corps of Engineers as his agency has worked with them on other projects.

The building of the oyster reef will be a tremendous problem, according to Demoran, which he said he feels, "Would take perfect logistics as the tide would have to be extremely high to get the barges into the area with the shells." Yet he feels it can be done.

One thing Demoran noted was that the reef would not disturb the sand beach as the 'hole' is about 1,500 feet out which would give enough of a buffer zone.

Demoran recalled a similar circumstance where a barge washed up on the beach in Harrison County several years ago. The tug created a soft area in freeing the barge and several people drowned.

"The area was close enough to shore where sand could be pushed into it. It was not like the one off Beach Boulevard in Hancock."

Longo stated Wednesday that he would like to see the reef idea and would pass on the permit applications to the Gulf Coast Research Lab.

The Waveland mayor has been trying to secure assistance for some time in the creation of a fishing reef at the tragic site.

The possibility of putting the reef shells in the hole has not been looked into by Demoran as yet but he said it is a 'possibility.'

Demoran stated, "My agency will be willing to work with the local officials in any way possible in solving the problem of the 'hole.'"

PUBLIC HEARING

The City of Bay St. Louis will conduct a public hearing Thursday, July 9, at 7 p.m. in the city council chambers in city hall on proposed use of federal revenue sharing funds during the 1981-1982 fiscal year.

First new council meeting labled 'social gathering'

By BRENT MACEY

Members of the Bay St. Louis City Council Tuesday stated they would have to discuss provisions of the state's revised new open meetings law which went into effect July 1 with their attorney before deciding what changes, if any, will be made regarding their current policy on executive sessions and workshop meetings.

The council in the past has scheduled workshop meetings the Thursday before their regularly scheduled meeting the second Tuesday of every month.

After the meeting, council member Harry Farve stated those meetings are open to the public also, but stated no one, including the press is allowed to take notes.

Mayor Larry Bennett said he and council members met privately on Monday of this week at a social gathering.

Sheldon Scurie said, "It was a friendly gathering. We had a few drinks and drinks, that was all."

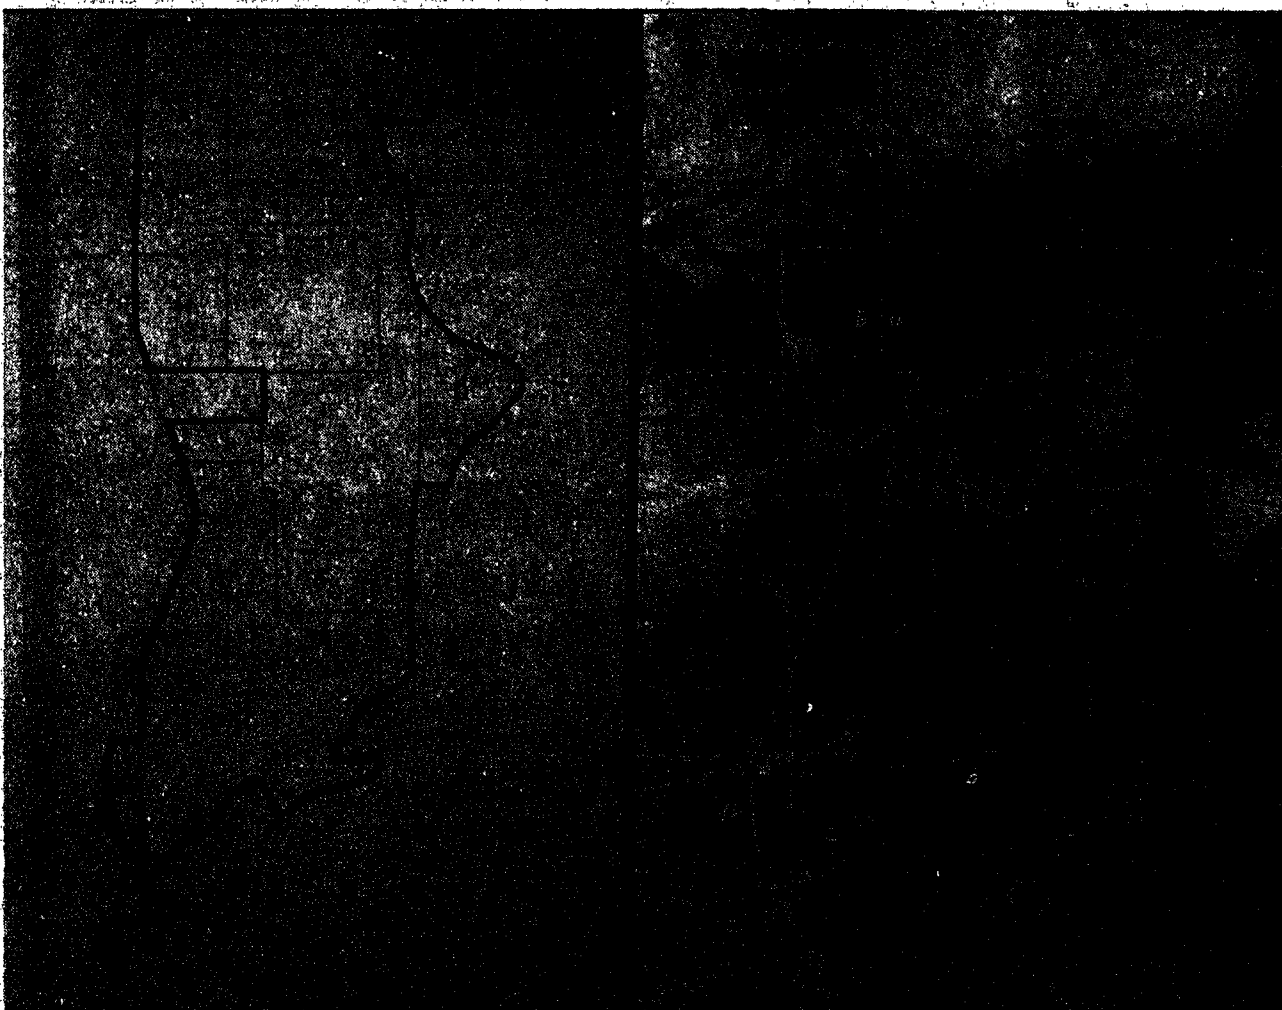

All council members denied discussing any public policy including a decision to elect Councilman at Large Wilmer Seymour as Council president, or filling the assistant chief of police position.

Earlier reports on the Monday meeting indicated the group had discussed those matters at the unannounced meeting, as well as the question of whether to hire the engineering firm of Lewis Eaton Partnership of Jackson.

Second Ward Councilman James Thriftley, however, Tuesday night denied they had discussed Seymour's election and the assistant police chief position.

Council members, acknowledged, however, that all members did attend the meeting along with mutual friends.

Seymour was elected to the position of council president during Tuesday's meeting. The assistant police chief position and the engineering firm were not mentioned or included on the docket.

LAND IN LITIGATION—A map indicating original land grants contained in Cinque Bambini Partnership's Hancock County property, left, and an aerial photograph, with the grant lines and indexed reference points, are part of the firm's evidence in an ongoing Gulfport trial. The property Bambini contends it owns is roughly 1,400 acres bounded on the north and east by Jourdan River, on the south by Bayou La Croix and on the west by Hwy. 90. It crosses the center of the land can't be seen. (Staff photo by Wayne Ducomb Jr.)

Research lab tests hole for oyster reef

By BRENT MACEY

The area encircling a deep hole some 1,500 feet offshore in Waveland is being considered as a possible site for construction of an artificial oyster reef by the Gulf Coast Research Laboratories in Ocean Springs.

In addition, a barge company owner is considering sinking an old barge directly in the center of the hole.

Bill Demoran, head of the lab's fisheries management department, and Ernest Mitchell, president of a Slidell branch of GRB Enterprises, a barge building company, visited the site Tuesday to inspect the bottom of the hole and surrounding underwater land mass.

Demoran was curious to see if the ground surrounding the hole is solid enough to support a reef. Mitchell was more concerned with the bottom of the hole to see if it was mucky enough to totally submerge a barge below the low tide water level.

Both Demoran and Mitchell said they would like to assist in helping prevent further drownings in the hole.

Twenty six people have drowned in the hole which was created in 1966 after the US Army Corps of Engineers pumped sand from the area to create a berm along the nearby seawall.

Officials have speculated that a sudden drop off from the shallow waters surrounding the hole, and the holes mucky bottom, have caused the drownings.

Although signs warning of the dangerous hole are posted on the beach and around the hole itself, drownings have continued.

In addition, the signs and the area's reputation as a death trap have failed to discourage swimmers from swimming into the area, especially on weekends.

Demoran said encircling the hole with oyster shells should prevent people from wading out into the hole.

"I don't think too many people are going to walk across oyster shells with bare feet," Demoran said, and stated the reef would be between 60 and 70 feet wide.

Demoran and Mitchell tested the bottom of the hole Tuesday by plunging a 20-foot bamboo rod into the ocean bottom from a boat which circled the hole area.

Demoran described the bottom in different areas as mucky, crusty and solid.

Some of the area around the hole which Demoran stated was crusty, covered with a crust which broke through into mucky bottom material after being poked by the pole, was considered by Demoran to be "not as good as I hoped for."

However, Demoran stated even those areas are "good enough to risk depositing shells."

Areas south and east of the hole are firm and solid ground, Demoran said.

He stated his department would most likely construct an oyster reef during June or the spring of next year since that is the time of year in which oysters spawn.

"If we do it now then there is a good chance we could lose the reef because the oysters might die. We would have a better chance of establishing a productive reef if we waited until next year," he said.

TIMBERLINE

By Rand Riedrich
Hancock County Forester

Have you ever had $2,300 to give away and couldn't? It appears that I have that problem. The State's Forest Resource Development Program (FRDP) has allocated this cost-share money to the landowners of Hancock County and we can't give it away.

If you own land here in Hancock County and want to put it into timber production, call me. The demand for wood in this county is expected to exceed the supply within 30 years unless many more trees are planted each year.

So, why not cash in on this expected shortage. The price of timber is expected to be sky high.

Smaller, private owners, who control the majority of forest lands in the nation, do not have the funds to make such a long term investment. Therefore, the Forest Resource Development Program is designed to share this expense with private eligible landowners.

An eligible owner can receive a sum equal to 75 percent of the owner's actual cost incurred for implementing an approved forest practice on his land up to certain limits.

If you think you might be eligible, get in contact with me on the second floor of the Courthouse in Bay St. Louis or call 467-4728.

Time is limited, if we don't allocate these funds by August 1 we have lost them. Please help me give away this $2,300.

The May, 1981 edition of the "Champion Big Trees Of Mississippi" is now available from the Mississippi Forestry Commission.

If estate decisions are not made now, your descendants may face a wide range of problems. "Decisions made after death are usually painful and uncertain," Dr. Martin said.

"You may want to leave family members who have contributed to your estate more than those who haven't."

If you own farm land and it is divided equally among heirs, the small units that result could be so economically inefficient that they cannot be farmed.

Problems inevitably occur when a will is not made. In Mississippi, if you do not have a will, the state laws of descent and distribution dictate how your property will transfer.

These laws may or may not conform to your wishes. However, if you have a will, your property is distributed as you desired.

Fourth, appoint an administrator or executor of your estate and give that person the authority to execute the affairs of the estate, such as: retaining a lawyer; setting up a record of accounts for the estate; collecting and paying bills; handling all the paperwork; helping with the distribution of property; and filing tax forms and paying any taxes owed. Parents may want to select guardians for minor children.

Examine the estate planning tools available: wills, gifts, sales and trusts, and decide how you can use them to carry out your estate plans. Your tax advisor can help you use the tools that fit your needs.

"People will work for 40 years to provide for and leave something for their families, but will not spend one day to see that their property is transferred as they wish," Dr. Martin said.

"Rapidly rising property values, plus the specific needs of heirs, should encourage you to plan your estate to the best of your ability."

"I don't think many of us realize the value or potential value of the property we own," said Dr. Robert Martin, economist with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service.

Planning the transfer of your property to heirs is important, regardless of the amount of property you own.

Nationwide figures indicate that seven of eight people die without a will, sending $10 million through probate courts each year.

For many, the excuse offered for not having a will is not knowing how to prepare it.

Dr. Julia H. Barnes, home management specialist with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service, outlined one procedure to follow.

First, make a list of the property you own, how it is owned and estimate its value.

Be sure you legally own all properties you are considering in your will," she said. "Some jointly-owned properties you have may transfer according to the deed and, thus, cannot be willed. Go over your deeds and property titles with your attorney if you have doubts about ownership."

Second, evaluate your list and decide who you wish to receive your property. Be sure the full names and addresses of heirs are given. List specific gifts to specific people. Also, be sure to specify the distribution of your residual estate, the part of your estate left after specific gifts have been given.

Third, list the debts you owe and the debts owed to you. "Include how much is owed, who is owed, and how payments are being made," she said.

Fourth, appoint an administrator or executor of your estate and give that person the authority to execute the affairs of the estate, such as: retaining a lawyer; setting up a record of accounts for the estate; collecting and paying bills; handling all the paperwork; helping with the distribution of property; and filing tax forms and paying any taxes owed. Parents may want to select guardians for minor children.

Finally, a letter of last instruction should be available to your executor. This letter should include funeral arrangements; a notification list; reasons for unusual statements in the will if there are any; names and addresses of guardians, executor, trustee and lawyer; and any other records and information that will help settle your estate.

"Most of us will not plan our estate adequately," Dr. Martin said. "If you have plans, review them and make sure they are current. If you haven't planned the transfer of your property, you have already lost valuable time."

Mobile Medic membership a must

Once again we are in the month of July membership month for Mobile Medic, and we feel it is important for all Hancock County residents to subscribe to this necessary service.

The membership fee for a family is $32 which includes husband, wife and all unmarried children under 21 living at home.

There is hardly a resident of the county who has not seen one of the white and orange emergency vehicles of Mobile Medic during the past year.

We at the newspaper often have the opportunity of seeing the fine job the company does in our community. In fact, we do not know what we would do without them.

Emergencies such as vehicle collisions, fires, drownings, people falling, heart attacks, strokes, airplane wrecks and we could mention even more, these are the places we see the Mobile Medic units.

The previous 12 months have been active for Mobile Medic in Hancock County with 156 dry runs, 599 emergencies and 704 transfer calls.

The benefits derived from the $32 fee are unmatched when you consider a non-member would pay over $100 for an in-county emergency call.

We know many folks may feel that they are not old enough to need emergency services. However, many of the calls last year to which Mobile Medic responded involved teen-agers as well as very young children.

Normally a person using an ambulance service similar to Mobile Medic would have to pay extra if they are a member and were transported to an out of county hospital.

But there is an exception made when Mobile Medic transports Hancock County members to Gulfport Memorial through a special agreement between the ambulance service and doctors, according to John Rester, manager.

Mobile Medic offers ambulance service to Hancock and West Harrison County and has 25 full-time employees, including three full-time paramedics, one registered nurse and two part-time paramedics.

Each year the specialized training of Mobile Medic's employees has increased, having the firm's dedication to the people they serve in Hancock and West Harrison counties.

As many of you know, Mobile Medic has a substation on US-90 behind Wheel Inn Restaurant to service our area. Many of the staff of Mobile Medic are residents of Hancock County.

An all out effort is being made by the firm to give us the best emergency ambulance service, a service we feel is a necessity for our community.

We never know what time of day or night we may need the service, no matter our age.

July is the only month to subscribe at the low rate of $32 per family. You can get a coupon from an advertisement in this issue of The Sea Coast Echo or pick up a subscription form at your favorite bank.

We hope you won't need their service the coming year, but if you need them and have a family membership, you can save many dollars.

Bits 'n pieces

Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church is presenting its annual fair this weekend starting Friday night.

The big fair with an array of entertainment for all ages will also feature all types of foods, items for sale and even pony rides for the kiddies.

Joe Marochino, fair chairman, has been working hard in the past weeks along with many others coordinating the many events.

We hope you will drop by the fair and see many of your friends and enjoy the food and events.

The 4th of July weekend looked like old times again with so many thousands of visitors.

A drive down Beach Boulevard was an experience in itself with all the traffic and folks enjoying themselves.

Parking space was at a premium from the mouth of the Jordan River to Bayou Cadet, especially at Bayou Cadet during the Shrimp Fleet Blessing.

It was a tremendous crowd who witnessed Bishop Joseph Howe bless the many boats all decorated for the special occasion.

Members of The Gulf Fishermen, Inc. and the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce should all be commended for a very fine event.

We understand the benefit for the young lad in the hospital was successful. Not too many places you can buy 12 ounces of delicious boiled shrimp for a $1. They were really good; hated to eat all I purchased; would have liked to keep some for eating at a later date.

As long as we can remember the Strong families in this area have always been fishermen or involved in the seafood business.

The thing that brings this up is because last Saturday as we were leaving the Blessing of The Fleet, we overheard the wife of one of the Strong's comment, "Never thought I would see the day that a Strong bought shrimp to eat." We thought it was an interesting comment.

HOSPITAL EMPLOYEE PRIDE—Members of the staff at Hancock General have undertaken a project involving the wall papering, new drape installation, painting of the rooms at Hancock General Hospital. The employees are donating their time in getting the project started while funds for the supplies have been donated by individuals, organizations and hospital fund raisers. Among staff members doing some of the labor are, from left Harry Richard, Jeanne Moran, and on the ladder, LaAnn Favre who is chairman of the special project. The estimated cost of materials for a private room is $350 and $475 for semi-private rooms. A plaque will be placed on the door of the rooms listing the donor for the redecorating. Individuals or organizations interested in making a contribution can contact LaAnn Favre or Jeanne Moran at Hancock General Hospital.

NEWS FROM THE GOVERNOR'S OFFICE

In an effort to avert a potential budget deficit of some $60 million in fiscal year 1982 Governor William Winter instituted tight budget controls on state agencies this week through a series of expenditure containment measures.

Winter used his emergency authority to control spending at least until the Legislature reconvenes in January. Some members of the Budget Commission characterized Winter's stand as "the toughest leadership position a governor has taken." The Budget Commission, which includes key House and Senate fiscal leaders, endorsed the governor's action.

The expenditure containment measures put into effect by Winter and Budget Commission director James Cooper include: (1) a 50 percent reduction in the budget increases for state agencies, (2) a requirement that agencies draw their allotments on a quarterly, rather than a semiannual, basis with unspent money lapsing to the treasury, (3) a delay until January in the establishment of seven new programs authorized by the 1981 Legislature, (4) a delay in all capital improvements until January, (5) a limit on state Medicaid funds to the amount required for federal match, and (6) a requirement that all special funds left be used before drawing on General funds.

"We must make it clear to every agency of state government that we are going to operate within the limit of funds available to the state," Winter said.

Lagging tax collections in recent months combined with larger than anticipated income tax refunds account in part for the projected shortfall. This tight money situation was compounded by the three-stage income tax cut which the Legislature enacted in 1979.

Winter said, "We are dealing with a critical fiscal situation. It is going to take some tough measures to operate this state without running a deficit. My message is that we are going to be hardheaded to ensure that we do maintain a balanced budget."

Governor William Winter said this week that he wants to merge the state Hospital Commission and the

Dear Sir:

With reference to my letter of June 20 to Trent Lott which you published in the Sea Coast Echo, please find enclosed a copy of Mr. Lott's reply to me.

While I feel that my protests, opinions, and objections are even more valid, I do feel that in the interest of fair play, Mr. Lott's reply should also be published in your paper.

I do not find his explanation justification, and I would appreciate much more if he would set a precedent of his own — elimination of bureaucratic waste.

Dear Mrs. Smith:

First, let me thank you for sharing your opinions with me on the subject of the certificates I present to high school graduates. Please allow me to respond to your letter.

Mississippi is one of those states in the nation with an average education level substantially below a high school diploma. So, to me, high school graduation is an accomplishment worthy of notice by society at-large. I personally am grateful that your son cared enough to finish his high school education and, hopefully, if he chooses, will go on to college.

The cost of the certificate your son received was approximately 30-cents. The practice of sending such certificates was started by my predecessor, the late William M. Colmer, and continued for 40 years. I kept up the tradition and have sent certificates for nine years.

The purpose of the certificates is to recognize a real accomplishment, one which puts your son well above the average. I hope the certificates also encourage your son to push hard for future successes through recognition of an achievement.

I hope this helps to explain why the certificates are prepared. If I may be of further assistance at any time, please do not hesitate to call on me.

With best wishes, I am

Taxpayer questions use of city mowing equipment on railroad property

To the Editor

Dear Sir:

If the people of Bay St. Louis are worried about high weeds on shoulders of the road and in the drain ditches in this city, they should drive Central Avenue from Washington to Webb Streets and see the city crew cutting the

Not long ago the mayor was complaining about not having enough money, men and equipment to maintain city property.

I do not like to see my tax dollar spent on maintaining railroad property.

Supervisors approve county redistricting

By BRENT MACEY

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors Monday approved beginning a program to redistrict the county supervisor, judiciary, and school board beats.

The board agreed to have Gulf Regional Planning Commission develop the 'necessary figures' to begin the redistricting process.

Walter Gex, board attorney, recommended the board purchase a large map of the county, similar to the map approximately 12 by 6 feet, currently hanging in the board room, and begin marking the current county voting precincts.

"We have to begin somewhere," Gex said.

The board agreed to meet in the near future with Circuit Clerk Henry Otis and County Engineer Larry Seal to begin drawing current precinct boundaries and matching those boundaries with meets and bounds descriptions.

James Pfeiffer, board secretary, said the redistricting will 'hopefully' be completed before the 1984 election.

James Head, GRPC director, said Tuesday that county officials had not yet contacted him regarding the project.

Head said population figures will be considered 'most important' regarding redistricting of all the beats.

Numbers of miles of road in each supervisor's beat must also be considered during redistricting, he added.

"We will be looking at any factors which could possibly cause any disparities," Head said.

He stated other factors to consider will include studying ditches and drainage throughout the county to assure that no one supervisor is given a larger cost operating burden in maintaining his district.

Head said the population figures will be used for redistricting the judicial school board beats, but would not give specifics on other factors involved.

"We will have to get further into the project before I can give any real specifics," Head said.

In other business, the board was requested to pass a two mill tax for Gulf Coast Mental Health Center when they meet to establish the 1981-82 fiscal budget in September.

Representatives of the center said two mills would obtain some $100,000 for the agency.

Dr. Kinsey Stewart, director of the program, Tuesday said 1.5 mills for the program was passed by the supervisors last year. He stated the increase in staff providing clinical services and federal government cutbacks have required the increase.

George Graves, director of Hancock Industries, informed the board that Hancock Industries currently is working 'at full capacity.'

Graves said 30 adults from Hancock County are working at Hancock Industries. Two subcontractors are providing jobs for the employees, and a third, Rochester Chemical Corp. of New Orleans, is currently training personnel how to service bathrooms, he said.

Eve McDonald, of the Hancock County Senior Citizen Center, thanked the board for their support in the past and requested the board to continue supporting the center in the future.

McDonald said the center is being harassed by the State Department of Public Welfare.

"They have monitors monitoring monitors in that department," McDonald said.

"What they are actually doing is having us spend more time and money to deliver less service," she said.

McDonald asked the board to write a letter to state congressmen and senators requesting the program be taken out of the hands of the welfare department and put in hands of the Council on Aging.

The board agreed they would write a letter requesting that action be taken.

Also during the Monday meeting, the board:

—Heard a request from Edward Murtagh, county tax collector-assessor, to computerize the all tax receipts currently being copied by hand by one of his office employees. Murtagh said after the meeting, an additional person will have to be hired for that sole purpose if the county does not change the system over to computers.

Murtagh also advised the board to increase the automobile sales tax from $1 to $1.50 for the next fiscal year in order to cover the postage cost of mailing new license plates this coming year.

—Accepted the request from the Hancock County School Board to issue a two mill tax to raise some $250,000 needed by the Hancock County School Board to build 16 additional classrooms. The board then approved advertising their intent to accept the tax. Pfeiffer said a petition against the mill-tax, signed by 20 percent of the county's registered voters, would must be necessary if the county is to vote on the issue;

—Set 10 a.m. July 20, 1981 as the time and date of a public hearing to discuss county revenue sharing funds for the next fiscal year. The meeting will be in the courthouse;

—Accepted low bids from Necaise Construction Company to pave five county roads. Bids accepted were $26,718 for Toxje Spence Road, $9,982 for Weems Road, $1,848 for Strickland Road, $3,831 for Wells Road and $7,386 for Bounds Road;

—Accepted bids from Creative Leisure Company of New Orleans for four sets of bleachers for a ball park near Cuevas Junction. Two sets of bleachers each seating 55 people cost $1,390 and two sets seating 75 people each cost $1,870;

—Heard a complaint from Arthur Bennett from the Lee Town area that vandals have slashed seven tires on cars parked in his driveway, cut two sets of brake lines in his car, and set fire to his barn. Bennett said all the incidents happened at night, with exception of the barn burning, and asked for the board's assistance in catching the vandals. The board directed him to speak with Ronald Peterson, Hancock County Sheriff;

—Recessed for an executive session scheduled for the next two weeks in order to examine the tax rolls filed Murtagh.

NUCLEAR WASTE

Is South Mississippi going to be the nation's dumping ground by default?

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following plea for an end to public apathy concerning the selection of South Mississippi as a nuclear waste dumping ground for the United States and perhaps other countries has been issued by Cynthia Kennedy, president, and Chris Snyder, vice president, respectively, of Coastians Against Nuclear Disposal, POB 921, Biloxi, 39533 (601-374-7251) July 2, 1981.

To The Editor:
NUCLEAR WASTE
 Is South Mississippi going to be the nation's dumping ground by default?

By now, most Coast residents are aware of the federal government's decision that a salt dome in Richton, Miss., is the best place in America to dump the nation's entire build-up of deadly radioactive waste.

The fact that this represents the first and only time the federal government has ever named Mississippi as the best place in America for anything should be reason enough for Mississippians to question its decision.

When coupled with the facts that high-level radioactive waste is the most dangerous, toxic material known and that Richton is located a mere 60 miles north of here, the urgent need for Coastians to question the validity of this decision should be clear.

And yet, the reaction by the general public has been mild. So mild in fact, that in a recent editorial, the editors of The Sun-The Daily Herald were prompted to ask, "Is South Mississippi going to be dumped on by default?"

The need to ask this question can be found in the complacent attitude of most readers. Part of the reason for this complacency lies in a reluctance by the media to openly discuss the full extent of the dangers involved with radioactive waste.

In the media's attempt to remain objective and to avoid the use of "scare tactics" and "sensationalism," the general public has not been fully informed as to certain basic facts concerning the issue.

Here are a few of these basic facts. We present them not to alarm or scare you, but to make an intelligent decision, you must first be fully informed.

HEALTH RISKS

First, radioactive waste is one of the most hazardous substances known. It is a definite and proven cause of cancer. Plutonium is one of the most toxic components of radioactive waste.

Ingested, a millionth of a gram will cause lung cancer.

In the words of Donald Geesman, former Atomic Energy Commission scientist, "One pound of plutonium represents the potential for nine billion human lung cancers. (It) presents a major carcinogenic hazard for the next thousand human generations."

Over 200 tons of plutonium will be dumped at the Richton site.

In addition to being cancer-causing, the wastes are known to cause genetic damage and birth defects. Defects which lie silently waiting, giving a false sense of security to the public, will surface years later with the birth of a retarded child.

Although the threat to man is great, the threat to the natural ecosystem of South Mississippi is even greater. Unlike many environmental pollutants, once radioactive wastes enter the system, they are there to stay. They cannot be removed. They cannot be neutralized. They must be left to slowly die a natural death... a death which requires hundreds of years and in the case of plutonium, over 250,000 years.

The amount of irradiated fuel to be stored in Richton represents enough radioactivity to "lay to waste" the whole of South Mississippi for centuries to come.

These facts are of particular concern to Coast residents because all of our major aquifers (which provide all the ground water for this area) originate in the Richton area.

Additionally, the Leaf River, which flows into the Pascagoula wildlife management area and ultimately into the Mississippi Sound, flows dangerously close to the Richton dome.

In light of these facts, a recent statement made by an official of the State Health Department should concern us all.

When asked at a meeting in Richton if there was a way to clean up a spill of high-level waste into our water, his reply was simply, "No, we don't know how to get it out."

When one considers that while enroute to Richton this waste must travel near or over every major river and creek in South Mississippi, the implications are serious.

TRANSPORTATION RISKS

Once the dump at Richton is operating at full capacity, as many as 15 shipments of high-level waste will begin arriving in Richton daily.

The shipments will be transported by truck, rail or barge. It is during this phase of the disposal plan that the most immediate possibility of exposure to the health risks mentioned above occurs.

High-level waste emits enough radiation to kill a person within minutes of exposure.

Sandia Laboratories, a New Mexico testing firm, has calculated that a major accident in an urban area could result in $700 million worth of decontamination costs and lost income.

Such an accident could result in dozens of early fatalities, hundreds of radiation illnesses, and thousands of latent cancer deaths.

Massive relocation of families would be necessary.

Who will pay the $700 million price tag? Certainly no local government could afford to pay the cost.

Does the State of Mississippi have $700 million to set aside?

In the past five years, 328 transportation accidents involving radioactive materials have taken place. Of these, 118 have resulted in the release of some amount of low-level radioactive material. As surely as the frequency of shipments will increase, so will the frequency of accidents.

Once a serious accident has occurred, who will be able to handle the special circumstances involving radioactive materials? Is the highway patrol equipped or trained to handle such a situation? How many hospitals in Mississippi are prepared to treat a contaminated victim of an accident involving the transportation of high-level waste?

As soon as the dump at Richton begins operating, shipments of irradiated fuel will begin passing through our area. With I-10 being the major east-west transportation artery in South Mississippi, we can be sure that waste will pass through here.

At the present time, radioactive waste from foreign countries such as Pakistan and India is transported to the United States by ship into Portsmouth, Va. If the dump at Richton goes into operation, further shipments from these countries could easily come into the Port of Gulfport.

The transportation of high-level waste on South Mississippi highways represents the most immediate threat of all to our safety and welfare. Even under the best of road conditions accidents will happen.

GUINEA PIG

Is nuclear waste really coming to the Magnolia State?

Although many people have been predicting for over two years now that Mississippi would be the chosen guinea pig, most of the pieces of this frightening puzzle are just now coming together.

1. The decision to pursue mined geological repositories for radioactive waste has recently been entered in the Federal Register.

2. Battelle Memorial Institute, the prime contractor for the Department of Energy, made its recommendations for the finalists in the salt dome category, ironically enough, on April Fool's Day: No. 1-Richton, Miss.; No. 2-Cypress Creek near New Augusta, Miss. (a Louisiana dome, Vacherie, was included as No. 2 for objectivity's sake).

Even though the National Academy of Sciences is now saying that salt is not the preferred geological medium, the Department of Energy is going ahead because most of its research to date is on salt, which is cheaper to mine than any of the other geological materials. Additionally, the Richton dome is the most economically desirable because it is the largest one being studied.

3. Louisiana and Texas are out of the running. Louisiana has been given the right to veto a nuclear waste site. This right was secured in a written agreement with the DOE in exchange for storage of the nation's strategic supply of oil in its salt domes. Texas salt domes are unsuitable because they are full of holes from oil exploration, and water has seeped into them.

4. The time schedule for a dump to receive radioactive waste has been accelerated by the DOE from 1996-2000 to 1981, with construction on an "exploratory shaft" to begin as soon as 1983. This is a radical policy change, which was accidentally revealed during DOE budget hearings in March. Mississippi officials were informed later.

5. As the proposal becomes more and more a reality, land acquisition (to insure a "safe buffer zone") estimates have jumped from 200 to 21,000 acres. This would mean that the entire town of Richton would have to relocate.

6. The Tri-State Motor Transit Company is building a new terminal in North Long Beach which would be very convenient to the Port of Gulfport and to Perry County. Tri-State is one of the major haulers of radioactive waste in the United States.

7. We believe that the Tennessee-Tombigbee waterway will be the most important transportation route to Mississippi from the rest of the nation for nuclear waste. The waterway was spared during budget cuts and is scheduled for completion in 1984.

WHAT WE WORRY

The Coastians Against Nuclear Disposal is a newly formed, non-profit, public interest group of Coastal residents who are worried about the waste dump for political as well as scientific reasons.

We believe that Mississippi has been chosen because of its lack of "political muscle" on the national level, as evidenced by the following:

The DOE tells Mississippi officials that it will know whether or not the salt dome is the best geological formation in which to put nuclear waste after it has completed the testing yet to be conducted.

But the DOE's prime contractor, Battelle, made the statement in a recent Time magazine article that "We've concluded that salt domes are fully capable of containing radioactivity."

We wonder whether or not our state officials are wise in their decision to cooperate fully with the DOE and let them continue with their tests, which would include an "exploratory shaft." It is a fact that this shaft is, in actuality, an integral part and the most expensive part of a full scale repository.

Once it is in place we will definitely host the dump.

Technically, we know that salt domes cannot be proven safe for the storage of large quantities of high-level radioactive waste until it is actually "demonstrated." Failure will be impossible to correct.

The following information is obtained from the Environmental Protection Agency:

A salt dome filled with nuclear waste will have an internal temperature of 200-300 degrees F. Any water nearby, whether liquid or vapor, would move towards the heat source.

Mississippi's high annual rainfall, more than 60 inches a year should disqualify the area from consideration.

A highly corrosive salt solution would break down any canister in time (EPA says within 10 years). No known form of canisters can be guaranteed to last long enough to see this generation out of danger. Radioactive material could permanently contaminate the ground water.

Politically, we know that although Gov. William Winter has publicly opposed a nuclear dump, he has taken no action to stop it. In fact, when questioned by two members of this group on May 11, he offered no plans to become more publicly visible on the issue or no assurance that he would demand public hearings from the DOE before the drilling of an exploratory shaft. These hearings will be the public's only chance to participate in the DOE's decision.

In contrast with our governor, Louisiana's governor has been quoted as saying that he did not want to make too much noise about their veto agreement with the DOE for fear that other states (Mississippi) would want one too.

Nine Louisiana congressmen have signed and sent a letter to DOE Secretary James Edwards requesting that all testing be halted.

In addition, 13 other states have passed legislation banning nuclear waste within their borders. A state legislative attempt to ban completely the siting of a nuclear waste dump in Mississippi died in committee last spring.

So, where are our congressmen in Washington and our legislators in Jackson on this issue? U.S. Rep. Trent Lott of Pascagoula has told us that he thinks nuclear waste storage will be safe, but that state veto rights should be strong.

We are concerned that there has not been a public outcry here on the Coast. Surely this all-important issue should get as much attention as a new mayor or a wastewater treatment plan.

As of February 1981, U.S. Sen. Thad Cochran of Mississippi had heard from only hundreds of Mississippians concerning this issue when he should have heard from thousands.

Many Richton residents feel helpless and are resigned to what they believe is inevitable.

The truth is, some local and state officials anticipate economic gains if the dump should be built. We believe that there can be no economic "carrot" big enough to justify this threat to public health and safety.

Because the Gulf Coast will suffer all of the risks and realize none of the "benefits," we believe that the Coast is an area that should show strong support towards opposition.

Considering the thousands of private and tax dollars spent yearly to lure tourists to the beautiful Gulf Coast, shouldn't our community leaders be voicing strong opposition? After all, who wants to vacation downstream from the world's radioactive garbage dump?

Let it be clear that we do not wish this health threat on another state in Mississippi's place.

We oppose the salt dome burial scheme in Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi and any other eligible state. We are opposed to any geological disposal plan that merely represents an "out of sight, out of mind" philosophy.

Instead, we favor a strong commitment by our government towards finding a permanent and technically safe method of dealing with radioactive waste.

Certainly, a society which is technologically capable of putting astronauts on the moon and achieving the recent accomplishments of the space shuttle, is equally capable of finding a technologically sound and safe means of handling these wastes.

In the meantime, we feel that each state should handle its own waste, on-site at each of its reactors (where it has been safely stored for years).

Many industry analysts view Mississippi as the Last Frontier. Mississippians have enjoyed relatively clean air and water and have had little experience with toxic chemical poisoning and deadly nuclear radiation.

We have not had to learn the public health and environmental lessons the hard way. It is ironic that we must now enter the industrial arena and match wits with the most vicious man-made waste problem ever conceived.

There can be no margin for error in this confrontation—no second chances—the waste is, in human terms, forever lethal.

DO MORE THAN WORRY

The Coastians Against Nuclear Disposal believe that South Mississippians can stop the location of a nuclear dump in our state. But in order to be successful, each and every citizen must voice strong disapproval and demand executive action from Gov. Winter.

In the past, the DOE has indicated that it wouldn't force a disposal site on a state where opposition is strong.

Immediate action by Mississippians will make the difference in whether Mississippi hosts a repository.

Write or call Gov. Winter today. Demand that he take strong action immediately, that is, either by executive order or legal action to stop further testing of Mississippi salt domes, or calling the Legislature into special session to legislate against further testing.

Your letter or phone call now may be your only chance to participate in this important issue. The governor can be reached by phone at 364-7675 or by mail at P.O. Box 139, Jackson, Miss., 39205.

Remember that it is not too late to let your feelings be known, but time is running out. Respond immediately if you want to help us prevent South Mississippi from becoming a radioactive timebomb. It is up to us to decide if South Mississippians are indeed going to be "dumped on" by default.

Sincerely,
 Cynthia Kennedy
 Chris Snyder

and lakes in the Bambini property area since the 1940's.

The attorney said in the late 1940's and early 1950's he and his father caught fresh water fish in the upper reaches of Bayou Enciente and salt water fish near the mouth.

"The mouth of the bayou was pretty wide, about 80 feet, and it continued the same width for about the first four bends," he reported.

"On the weekdays in the 1940's you would hardly see a boat in the bayou, then a few years later the Jourdan started to decline as a fishing river with all the water skiers and boats," Genin stated.

He reported finding the bayou's mouth filled in the late 1950's and a dynamited pier in a nearby dredged channel.

Genin said in Jan. 1960, he saw 15-20 inboard-outboard speed boats in the bayou and the entire waterway was effected by the tide.

The attorney then recounted nearby lakes and streams he had fished and hunted.

When cross examined by Walter Phillips of Bay St. Louis, a Bambini attorney, Genin said he did not know Long Gar Bayou existed.

Cole again took the witness stand and clarified he intentionally placed the tide gauges near the shore to primarily record high tides.

He also reported he participated in a video tape recording which shows a boat's view of bayous and inlets in the Bambini property claim.

Cole stated some of the Bambini mean high water mark stakes had been 'cut down' when the tape was made, but many of the markers could be seen in the presentation.

Holleman's objections to the questioning was overruled by Stewart.

The surveyor said he, Holleman and Mike Holleman (the attorney's son) made the video tape using a zoom lens in some portions of the presentation.

Taylor objected to the tape's admission as evidence claiming it to be an inaccurate depiction of the area in question.

Holleman argued the tape shows the nature of the land and is a valuable piece of evidence.

Stewart stated, "I'd like to see the video tape."

Taylor said viewing the tape could constitute a "reversible error" and described it as a rather amateurish presentation.

Cole cited the tape was intended to present an 'overview' of the area.

Blass joined in objecting to the film and stated, "We have a sweet, homey little film that shows a honey moon and three huge aerial photographs presented by the complainants covering the entire area."

"In addition I can see before me at least seven huge aerial photos presented by the state showing this area," Blass noted.

"I object to the theatrical homeyness and chattiness," Blass said in reference to portion of the tape showing Cole losing his hat in the water and girls in bathing suits on a pier.

Holleman argued the film shows several locations which include the newly dredged Bayou Enciente channel and the remnants of a pier in that channel.

"The film's importance is emphasized by the complainants' continuous objections," he stated.

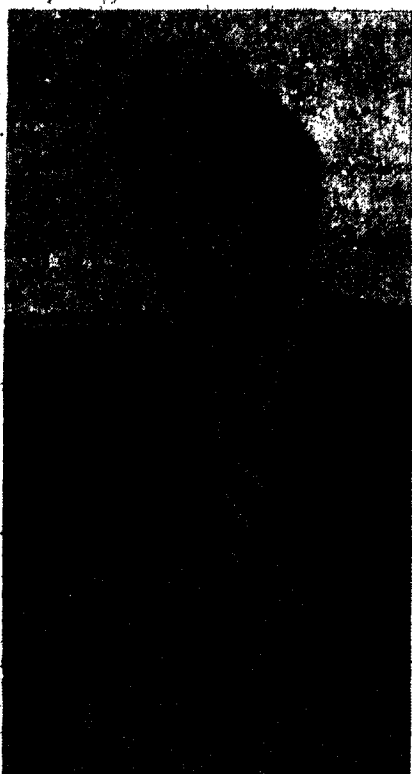

Cole said the film was not edited, but stated, "...I saw the camera shut off several points."

The surveyor said the tape was shot over a 1.5-hour period when the tide was at a relatively high stage.

Stewart stated, "There still is a valid purpose to look at a close view of the area. I would like to see what it looks like."

"I wish the girls and the hat-trick weren't in the film, but the only way I can make a determination is to look at it," he added.

Holleman aired the film in the courthouse's modern model courtroom equipped with electronic equipment and bullet proof one-way mirrors.

After the showing, which was interrupted by an equipment failure, Holleman offered the tape as evidence, which brought continued objections from Blass and Taylor.

Among other objections, Blass noted the camera was shut off when the boat reached the narrow ends of inlets.

Stewart stated, "It's not a bad film for showing the condition of the bayous, but several things bothered me—such as the witness making comments about the complainants' surveys."

"Under the circumstances we will try to forget we saw it, but will mark it as evidence to the Supreme Court," he ruled.

After additional arguments by Holleman, Stewart said he would consider the tape's content and reserved a ruling of the matter.

Cole then explained how aerial targets were erected over each of the mean high water marks.

"We accepted a majority of the complainants' survey points. We established roughly 200 extra points and we made a sketch of the locations and sent this to Geodetic Services," he reported.

"Photogrametrics was used to establish the location of the small dots indicating our high water marks," Cole continued.

Taylor then requested Cole's sketch of mean high water points which he said was not previously available.

Waveland judge balks at proposed fine hike

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

Waveland's city judge balked at misdemeanor fine increases proposed by the Police Department at a Board of Aldermen meeting Tuesday night.

Barbara Rappold, city clerk and alderman, reported that Chief Donald Dorn said the fine increases were necessary to offset increased state deductions for its police training, driver's education and drunk driver's rehabilitation programs, and law library.

Mayor John Longo noted the state deductions have now doubled.

Lucien Gex, city judge and attorney, said, "I talked to Dorn about the added expenses, but I don't agree about setting these as an absolute minimum."

Dorn was unavailable for comment Wednesday due to his hospitalization for an operation.

Gex noted the minimum suggested $30 fine for running a stop sign might be too high for someone caught "just easing through" as opposed to a driver "racing through" such an intersection. "We've been somewhat lower than Bay St. Louis in levying fines. This may cut down the number of offenses," he speculated.

Gex said a driver traveling 36-miles-per-hour on one street might be more dangerous than in another area.

"I don't think it's fair to say $36 is the bare minimum for a speeding violation, in some cases it might be too much," the city judge stated.

"I never looked at the court as a revenue project and I'm not interested in running the city police department on fines," Gex said.

He noted the proposed $75 for improper lane usage might also be too high in some cases.

"A parking violation is listed at $30. The city has very few marked parking areas," Gex stated.

"I'd like to go over these with Dorn, then we could establish new minimums if a person doesn't want to go to court," he suggested.

Alderman Jack Toomey stated, "When is gets so bad we have to fine people to support the police, we may have to look at laying some people off."

Uniroyal tires say great things about themselves. Right on the sidewall. That's where the three performance ratings based on the U.S. Dept. of Transportation's new grade labeling system now appear. So actually, all tires must now speak for themselves. Some simply have better things to say. Take the Uniroyal Steeler's treadwear rating. As you can see in the chart, it's miles ahead of the competition.

Uniroyal Steeler projected to last 15,000 more miles than comparable Goodyear, Firestone, Michelin or Goodrich tires.*

Why Does a Dog Bite?

Dogs that bite are called mean, nasty, and wicked. But, biting dogs are innocent victims, molded by irresponsible owners and likely to be headed toward death at an animal shelter. Most dogs that bite are just untrained or spoiled, which, is, after all, not the dog's fault.

Canine aggression is frequently caused by the ignorance of the owner, not knowing that challenges of aggressive behavior can be normal. Growing puppies, like growing children, like to test those in authority. It is just then that the owner must take responsibility.

A growing or biting dog needs immediate obedience training, and the owner must make sure he receives it. Through a full understanding of the basic obedience commands (heel, sit, stay, down, come when called, no and okay) the owner is able to communicate with the dog.

Knowing these commands also makes it easier for the dog to understand right from wrong. But a dog should never be trained with hitting or with collars that use spikes or electric shock. Even a dog being hit with a rolled up newspaper could make a good case of self defense if he bit the attacker.

Dogs that are never corrected for bad behavior become spoiled and try to take advantage of every situation. Obedience training is needed for spoiled dogs so they may learn they cannot always do as they wish.

There are other dogs that are aggressive because they are frightened of the world beyond their home. Different environments can upset this fearful or shy dog, encouraging stronger protective and aggressive behavior. Also the victims of poor ownership, these dogs need socialization to strange places, people, and sounds. The more uncertain or unsure the dog feels, the more likely he is to bite.

If all owners would live up to all their dog owning responsibilities, dog pounds would become extinct. After all, isn't that an unfit ending for an animal that has established the sort of bond that exists between man and dog?

GOOD GOLF

Tips On A Low
Score At A High Age
By Jay Hebert

Most golfers are afraid of sand traps and senior golfers are no exception. Once you understand the technique of playing from sand, it's really not so fearsome at all.

The trap shot is played with a sand iron and is executed with a three-quarters swing. The golfer stands with his feet and upper body definitely open, facing slightly to the left of the target.

Notes

By PETER SCIANA

Once again, George DiBenedetto is calling for volunteers to clean up at St. Mary's cemetery July 19, the final clean-up of this type for the year.

The parish council has commended the Knights for their previous clean-up of the cemetery.

According to Joe Marochino, who is a member of the Parish Council as well as the Knights, the Knights' actions have called attention to the need of continuous upkeep of the parish cemetery.

We ask that everyone join in with us that Sunday morning on this important parish project.

Please remember in your prayers Norman Benigno and Phil Kergosien as they both recover from recent illnesses.

Remember, we need your help at the fair this weekend. The fair committee is looking for help with tomorrow night's dinner, also. Please, we need you to make the fair a success.

Our guest at the upcoming installation of officers will be Bishop Howze. All Knights are welcome, as are their guests.

Please contact Bob Hubbard for reservations. Come as we welcome our new officers for this year and play host at Pere Le Duc Council Hall for the first time to Bishop Howze.

Hubbard has already been recognized by the Supreme Council for his work with Pere Le Duc Council.

However, on July 6, he was again recognized for his outstanding contributions when Joseph Helmer, our new district deputy who was a guest at Monday night's meeting, presented Bob with the Top Proposer of New Members Award from the supreme knight.

Congratulations, Bob, from all your fellow Knights who are proud of your efforts on behalf of the council.

Not only is the grand knight busy with all the council activities, but he is active within the community as a director of the Rotary Club. This is just another example of the involvement of Knights in all aspects of the community.

Chris Austin has been appointed by the grand knight as secretary for the council.

Among Chris's many duties will be public relations for the council. Chris has already been busy preparing a council yearbook to be presented at next year's state convention. The Council congratulates Chris on his appointment.

Check out the council's new bulletin board in the Hall foyer for important notices and news.

This new bulletin board was recently put up by Tony Scavo, who has been active in activities of the council and of Knights throughout the state.

BE IT REMEMBERED that on the 8th day of May, 1981, there was a regular meeting of the Hancock County Board of Trustees, which meeting was held in the office of the Superintendent of Hancock County Schools at 9:00 A.M. Present at said meeting were:

Monroe, Cuevas, Johnny Bank, Woodrow Lader, George E. Lader.

There came on for consideration the matter of borrowing the sum of $250,000.00 for the purpose of constructing ten classrooms at Hancock North Central School, four at Gulfview Elementary School, two at Charles B. Murphy Elementary School, adjoining restrooms and purchasing equipment, and the Board having duly considered the matter finds that it is necessary to make a loan for said amount, whereupon Johnny Banks moved the adopting of the following resolution, to-wit:

RESOLUTION OF THE HANCOCK COUNTY BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF HANCOCK COUNTY SCHOOL DISTRICT REQUESTING THE HANCOCK COUNTY BOARD OF SUPERVISORS TO BORROW MONEY ON SHORT TERM NOTES OR CERTIFICATES OF INDEBTEDNESS TO BE USED FOR THE PURPOSE OF CONSTRUCTING TEN (10) CLASSROOMS AT HANCOCK NORTH CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL, FOUR (4) AT GULFVIEW ELEMENTARY SCHOOL, TWO (2) AT CHARLES B. MURPHY ELEMENTARY SCHOOL, ADJOINING RESTROOMS AND PURCHASING EQUIPMENT. SAID LOAN TO BE MADE UNDER AUTHORIZATION OF CODE SECTIONS 37-59-101 THROUGH 37-59-115, OF THE MISSISSIPPI CODE OF 1972 ANNOTATED AND ALL AMENDMENTS THERETO.

WHEREAS, the Hancock County Board of Trustees, of the opinion and so finds and adjudges that in order to construct said classrooms, restrooms and necessary equipment for same, said construction and purchases must be paid for out of the funds to be provided by the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County, Mississippi; and

WHEREAS, the Board finds that there are no funds available which can be used for the purpose of constructing the classrooms, restrooms and equipment above mentioned; and

WHEREAS it is the best interest of the Hancock County School District that the aforementioned construction and purchases be done in order to promote the best interest and welfare of the students of this School District; and

WHEREAS, the Hancock County Board of Trustees has on numerous occasions adopted resolutions concerning borrowing of money on short term notes or certificates of indebtedness authorized under Section 37-59-101 through 37-59-115 of the Mississippi Code of 1972 Annotated; and

WHEREAS it now appears that all of these previous resolutions are no longer necessary or warranted in the eyes of the Hancock County Board of Trustees; and

WHEREAS, the Hancock County Board of Trustees feel that in order to eliminate any misunderstanding or confusion on the present resolution that it is their intention to void all previous resolutions concerning the levy of two mills for short term obligations or certificates of indebtedness; and

WHEREAS there is a certain sum of money presently being held in the office of the Hancock County Board of Trustees for and on behalf of the Hancock County School System in a fund which was established for a previous short term obligation, and it is the wish of the Hancock County Board of Trustees that said sum of money, which is in excess of $30,000.00, be used for the purpose of paying interest on the $250,000.00 obligation which is asked for in this resolution. Now therefore:

BE IT RESOLVED that the Board of Trustees of the Hancock County School District request the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County, Mississippi, to borrow the sum of $250,000.00 to be used for the construction of ten (10) classrooms at Hancock North Central High School, four (4) at Gulfview Elementary School, two (2) classrooms at Charles B. Murphy Elementary School, adjoining restrooms and purchasing equipment for same, and that the Board of Supervisors issue short term notes or certificates of indebtedness to evidence said indebtedness, and that said notes or certificates of indebtedness bear interest not to exceed seven percent (7 percent) per annum, payable annually or semi-annually as provided by Sections 37-59-101 through 37-59-115 of the Mississippi Code of 1972, Annotated, and all amendments thereto; and also including Section 19-4-19 of the Mississippi Code of 1972, Annotated as now amended.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the said notes or certificates of indebtedness shall mature in a period of not to exceed five years from the date of the issuance.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the governing authorities of Hancock County shall levy annually a tax sufficient to pay the principal and interest on said notes or certificates of indebtedness, which said levy shall be collected in the same manner as other taxes; and that the said annual tax levy shall not exceed two mills on the dollar for the payment of said notes or certificates of indebtedness as provided for in Section 37-59-107 of the Mississippi Code of 1972 Annotated.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Hancock County Board of Trustees does hereby rescind all previous resolutions concerning the levy of two mills for the short term obligations or certificates of indebtedness.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the money, which is in excess of $30,000.00, held in the office of the Chancery Clerk of Hancock County, for and on behalf of the Hancock County School System, be used for the purpose of paying the interest on the $250,000.00 obligation asked for in this resolution.

The motion for the adoption of the foregoing resolution was seconded by Woodrow Lader, and upon roll call vote being taken, the vote was as follows:

VOTING AYE: George Lader, Monroe Cuevas, Woodrow Lader, Johnny Banks.

VOTING NAY: None.

ABSENT: Louis Lader.

BILLY D. SILLIS, Executive Secretary of the Hancock County School Board, do hereby certify that the above and foregoing is a true copy of a resolution passed by the Hancock County School Board at a recessed meeting on May 8, 1981.

This the 8th day of May, 1981.

BILLY D. SILLIS, Executive Secretary

WHEREAS, it is the intention of the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County, Mississippi, to authorize the borrowing of said money and to issue negotiable notes or certificates of indebtedness of the Hancock County School District as evidence of the same, the amount of said indebtedness to be incurred being the sum of $250,000.00 for the purpose outlined in the petition of the Hancock County Board of Education as above set forth.

NOW THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County, Mississippi, that notice is hereby given to the qualified electors of the Hancock County School District that unless a petition signed by twenty percent (20 percent) of the qualified electors of the said Hancock County School District is filed with the Board of Supervisors prior to the 3rd day of August, 1981, at the Hancock County Courthouse, Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, requesting that an election be called on the question of incurring said indebtedness, then the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County, Mississippi, will, at its meeting on the 3rd day of August, 1981, adopt a resolution giving final approval to the borrowing of said money and shall authorize the issuance of negotiable notes or certificates of indebtedness of the School District as evidence thereof in accordance with the provisions of Sections 37-59-101 through 37-59-115, of the Mississippi Code of 1972, Annotated, and all amendments thereto, for the purposes set out in the resolution hereinafter set forth.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the Clerk of this Board be and he is hereby directed to publish this Resolution in The Sea Coast Echo, a newspaper having general circulation in Hancock County, on July 9 and 16, 1981, the first insertion date being not less than fifteen (15) days prior to the date upon which the Board of Supervisors shall adopt a resolution giving final approval to borrowing said money and shall authorize the issuance of said notes or certificates of indebtedness, unless otherwise directed by petition of 20 percent of the qualified electors of said school district requesting that an election be called as set out in the foregoing.

The above and foregoing resolution having been first reduced to writing, was read and considered section by section, and then as a whole, and upon motion of Supervisor Lader, seconded by Supervisor Cuevas, was adopted by the following vote: Aye: Supervisors Courree, Keller, Lader, Perdicario and Travira.

Those voting Nay: None.

The motion having received the affirmative vote of a majority of the members of the Board, the President declared the resolution adopted, this the 8th day of July, 1981.

Theater slates 8:15 p.m. curtain

Curtain opens at 8:15 p.m. tonight on the Bay St. Louis Little Theater production of "Bells Are Ringing."

The show, being presented at the theater's Boardman Avenue Playhouse, continues its run Friday and Saturday evenings and next Thursday, Friday and Saturday, July 16-18.

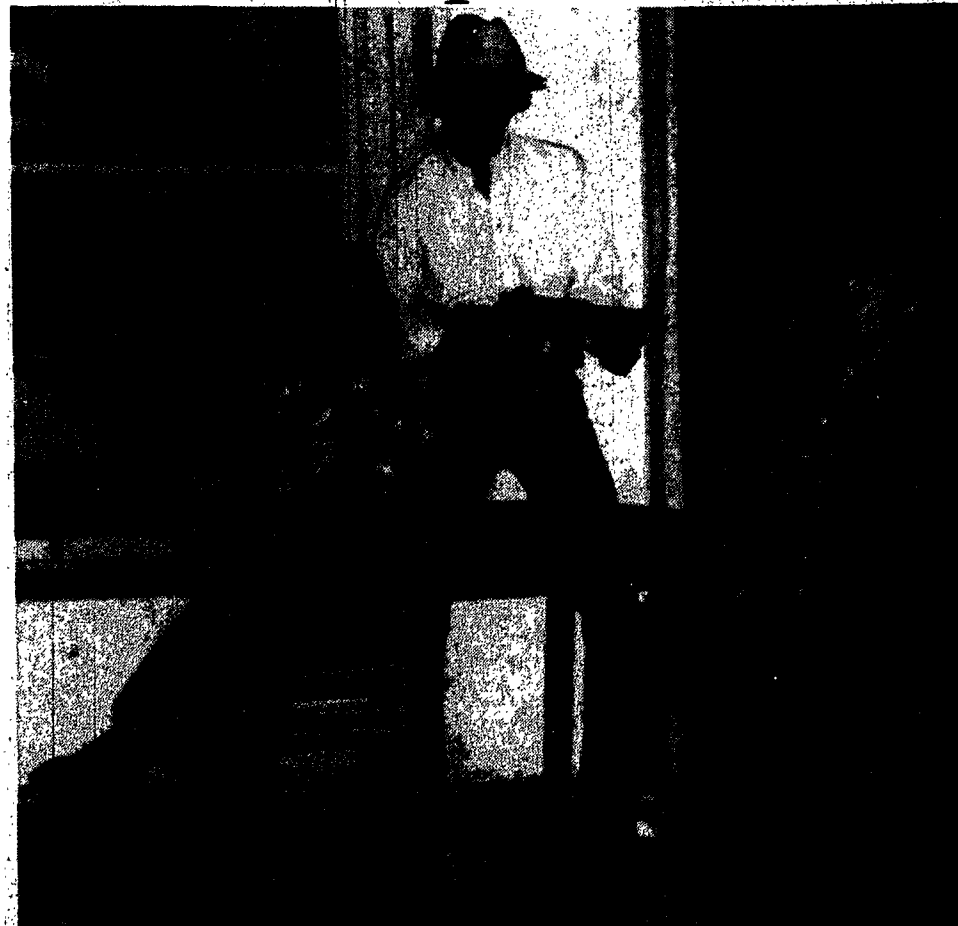

Kathleen Stieffel and Ken Rayborn star in the musical, supported by a host of multi-talented cast members.

"This show exposes more talent in various areas than our theatre has ever had, particularly in male dancers," said Mike Cuevas, stage director.

"Each novice cast member has exhibited special talents that even their families will be surprised to see."

"The show, with multiple stage settings, includes several show-stopping production numbers, and is packed with familiar songs that the audience will whistle for weeks following the show," Cuevas added.

Tickets are available at the door on performance evenings, with the box office opening at 7:30 p.m.

LITTLE THEATER SCENE—oblivious to the world, Celeste Proulx, as Sue, ignores Sander (Frank Gray) as he is under attack by a member of the mob, Rickey Lader.

OLA group joins four nation tour

Months of anticipation finally brought four area students to the long-awaited day when they would travel overseas for the first time.

Friday, June 26, the Our Lady's Academy students and graduates joined students from Louisiana at New Orleans International Airport to travel four European countries in a 26-day study program sponsored by the Archdiocese of New Orleans and American International Education and Training, Inc.

Local students include Penny Bourgeois, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Bourgeois of Waveland; Kathy Eckert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Eckert of Diamondhead; Rachel Gex, daughter of Mr. and Mrs.

Walter Gex of Diamondhead; and Ethel Griffith, daughter of Francis Griffith and granddaughter of Mrs. Ethel Finhold of Pass Christian.

Others completing the nine-member group are Evelyn LeBlanc of Abbeville, La.; Sarah Thompson of Gulfport; Marshal Wise of Carriere; Gerri Koch of Miami, Fla.; and moderator Mary Lou Koch of Bay St. Louis.

This group joined approximately 80 others to travel by Pan Am to London, where they spent one day before continuing on to Rome. They will tour Italy, France, Switzerland and England by bus learning about the culture, art and history of each country while getting to know its people and enjoying its unusual foods.

Each student involved in the excursion will receive six hours college credit. As part of her requirement, she will keep a daily journal, attend classes in each country, and complete a scrapbook after she returns home.

"We have spent months making preparations for this experience. We are finally packed and ready to go. I know the members of the group will have a wonderful time and learn a great deal. It's opportunity I would wish for many young people of our area in future years," said moderator Koch.

Martinolich gets USM scholarship

Kathy Ann Martinolich of Bay St. Louis has been awarded a prestigious University Scholarship to attend the University of Southern Mississippi this fall. Miss Martinolich, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Andrew K. Martinolich, will be one of 50 members of the freshman class inducted into the USM Honors College.

A graduate of Our Lady's Academy, she has been named a National Merit Semifinalist, and a Distinguished High School Student.

She is a member of the National Honor Society, Mu Alpha Theta and was named on the Alpha Honor Roll at OLG.

At USM she plans to pursue a pre-medical curriculum.

Hancock Scout camp takes top accreditation

The New Orleans Area Council's Salmen Scout Reservation near Sellers in Hancock County has received an "A" nationally accredited plaque and rating.

Regional representatives made an objective review of the camp's operation and facilities as well as a complete appraisal of the staff and program.

Mandatory standards included such items as tested drinking water, milk supply, refrigeration, physical exams, medical inspections, health log, latrines, waste disposal, state and local permits, licenses and sanitation inspections.

This camp has 1,500 acres of rolling hills and beautiful pine trees.

Scouts do wilderness camping and sleep in two-man tents, in well-spaced patrol areas.

For more information, contact the scout service center at 504-837-0780 or any scoutmaster.

PRC trustees adopt $5.6 million budget

Pearl River College's Board of Trustees adopted a record $5,628,960 budget for the 1981-82 fiscal year.

According to Ron Holmes, PRC's business manager, the new approved budget is almost four times as large as the 1971-72 budget.

Revenue for the new budget will come from six sources with state support making up $2,873,283 or about 60 percent of the total income.

Other revenue includes student fees, $789,300; county support, $750,000; federal support, $203,377; auxiliary agencies (food, housing, bookstore, etc.), $825,500 and other sales and services $187,500.

The six counties supporting Pearl River College are Hancock, Pearl River, Jefferson Davis, Marion, Lamar and Forrest. These counties also provide an additional $200,000 per year, not included in the adopted budget. These funds are earmarked in this separate budget to pay debts incurred in the past for several building programs.

PRC's major expenditures during the next year will be for salaries and fringe benefits. Academic, vocational-technical and support staff salaries for all Pearl River personnel, including the Forrest, Lamar and Hancock County centers equals $2,669,658.

"We are in sound financial condition," said Holmes. "We did not make any cutbacks in staff or purchasing of supplies. In fact all departments received at least a 10 percent increase."

"We must be cautious with our spending," Holmes said. "A lot depends on the enrollment." The adopted budget was based on the number of students Pearl River College had enrolled last year. It is possible for the revenue to increase or decrease according to the '81 fall enrollment figure.

"Sixty-eight percent of the total Pearl River budget is spent on salaries and fringe benefits," said Holmes, "it's by far our greatest expense."

Other major expenditures are for utilities, $353,162; materials and supplies, $474,594; scholarships, $141,950; furniture, equipment, vehicles, $133,993.

Auxiliary expenditures total $793,042 with contractual services amounting to $605,000. The bulk of this figure goes to Morrison's Food Services for operation of the cafeteria. Book purchases cost $98,000 and auxiliary merchandise purchase is $35,000.

Holmes said the college has a reserve contingency fund of $210,145 built into the 1981-82 budget.

Russell Smith attends 'W' Governor's School

Gov. William F. Winter challenged the charter class of the state's first Governor's School at Mississippi University for Women to share knowledge gained during the three-week honors program with their peers.

"I want you to help show them some of these new vistas...these new areas of intellectual achievement that are waiting out there for the inquiring mind," Gov. Winter told Governor's School participants at a recognition banquet Friday night.

"We cannot have too many informed, intelligent, wise, competent, skilled, dedicated people in this country," the governor continued.

"I hope that out of these three weeks here on this campus, you will carry back to your own schools and to your home communities, and for that matter wherever you go and whatever you do, a new sense of responsibility and of leadership," Gov. Winter said.

"I want you to regard the privilege that has been yours of participating in this school as a continuing responsibility to raise and elevate and expand and broaden the sights of your contemporaries...your fellow students."

Students shared mementos and position papers produced by major classes with the state's chief executive during the recognition banquet. Governor's School concluded Saturday with Parents' Appreciation Day.

A summer residential honors program for gifted students, Governor's School was established at The W by Gov. Winter. The school provided participants with a college-level learning experience stressing the unity of the humanities, sciences, arts, technology and ethical traditions.

Students enrolled in major courses produced an individual or collective "product" such as a play, a paper, a chemical analysis, poetry, or an art object.

Experts in the humanities, sciences, medicine and other fields directed major courses, short courses and a series of one-hour presentations.

Governor's School was established at MUW to provide academic, creative and leadership experiences for a limited number of rising high school junior and seniors. Participants were selected from nominations by school systems throughout the state.

Twenty-three students from the Mississippi Gulf Coast area attended Governor's School.

Russell Smith of Bay St. Louis also attended.

Oxford Faulkner Conference an international attraction

Faulkner enthusiasts from 24 states, Japan, Austria and West Germany will gather in Oxford Aug. 2-7 for the eighth annual Faulkner and Yoknapatawpha Conference at The University of Mississippi.

Some 100 Faulkner devotees are expected to attend the conference, held each year to examine the life and work of the Nobel Prize-winning Mississippi author. Theme for this year's conference is "Faulkner and the Southern Renaissance."

Conference participants will attend lectures and discussions examining Faulkner's role in the fabled Southern Renaissance, the tremendous outpouring of literature which began in the South during the 1920s.

Topics which will be discussed include Faulkner's influence on Southern writers, his reaction to various Southern intellectual movements and treatment of the South in his novels. Conference speakers also will examine Faulkner's relationship to other famous Southern writers, among them Robert Penn Warren, Flannery O'Connor and Stark Young.

A new feature at this year's conference will be the performance of a two-act play based on Faulkner's life. The play, titled "Ole Mr. Faulkner, Do You Write?" is a one-man show featuring Mississippi John Maxwell, an actor and drama professor from Jackson.

The play, written by Maxwell and fellow Jackson resident Tom Dupree, is a dramatic representation of Faulkner's life and character. Conference participants will receive a guided tour of Lafayette County and Oxford, considered to be the models for fictional Yoknapatawpha County and its county seat of Jefferson, setting for many of Faulkner's most famous novels.

A discussion of the architecture of the Yoknapatawpha region, another new feature of this year's conference, will be held before the tour of Lafayette County.

The discussion will be led by Hubert McAlexander, a professor at the University of Georgia, and Thomas S. Hines, who holds a joint appointment in the Department of History and the School of Architecture Planning at UCLA.

For the second consecutive year, the conference will include a musical presentation by Sister Thea Bowman, a black Trinitarian nun who directs a program of intercultural awareness for the Catholic Diocese of Jackson.

She will be accompanied by the Ole Miss Black Student Union Choir in presenting a program of black music and culture drawn from Faulkner's work.

Several prominent Southern Scholars are scheduled to participate in the conference, including editor and author Cleanth Brooks, Southern literature specialist Louis D. Rubin Jr. and Emory University professor David Minter, author of the most recent Faulkner biography.

Elizabeth Spencer, an award-winning Mississippi novelist, will discuss Faulkner's influence on Mississippi writers and J. M. Faulkner, William Faulkner's nephew, will relate anecdotes about his famous uncle.

Other conference participants will include William C. Baggett Jr., an artist known for his depictions of Faulkner Country; Alexander Blackburn, writer and editor who founded Writers Forum; Dr. Evans Harrington, chairman of the Ole Miss English department; Richard H. King, author of one of the foremost books on the Southern Renaissance; Jo Marshall, an authority on Faulkner's family and environment; Patrick Samway, a scholar who has published several articles and a book on Faulkner; and Floyd C. Watkins, an author who co-edited "Old Times in the Faulkner Country."

The Faulkner and Yoknapatawpha Conference is sponsored by the Center for the Study of Southern Culture and the Department of English at Ole Miss.

Admission to the conference is limited, but some positions are still available. Further information is available through the Center for the Study of Southern Culture, (601) 232-5993.

EXERCISE FOR ELDERLY
More and more, older adults in America are not receiving adequate exercise and recreation, says Dr. Frank Butts, a University of Mississippi physical education professor who has developed an exercise program for people aged 60 and over. Dr. Butts' program is designed to allow older adults to meet, socialize and improve their physical condition. He said older adults benefit from exercise in that it helps them cope with stress; reduces mental fatigue, tension and boredom; improves self-image, poise and grace; and increases strength and endurance.

Southern Arena Theater slates three-week run

Richard Wilbur's translation of Moliere's "Tartuffe" and Neil Simon's "The Good Doctor," adaptations of Anton Chekhov's stories, open the Southern Arena Theatre's three week summer season at the University of Southern Mississippi July 17-18.

The repertory company, composed of students from USM and other universities across the nation will present "Tartuffe" on July 17, 22, 25, 30, August 4 and 7 and "The Good Doctor" on July 18, 23, 26, 31, August 5 and 8.

The third play in the repertory will be Noel Coward's "Hay Fever" on July 21, 24, 29, August 1 and 6. All performances begin at 8 p.m.

In "Tartuffe," Orgon (Ron Mills) and his family are at the mercy of the fraud and pious impostor Tartuffe (Brian Brumfield), who is his guise as a priest is trying to take everything Orgon has. Tartuffe wins his host's trust, tries to marry Marianne (Kennedy Miazka), Orgon's daughter and seduce Elmire (Becky Howell) Orgon's wife and all the time trying to scrounge the deed to the property.

The gullible Orgon is saved by the timely arrival of an emissary from King Louis XIV.

Critics have called this new version of one of the great French comedies, "a delightful romp."

Season tickets are $7.50 general admission, $4.50 students and senior citizens. Single show ticket prices are $3.50 general admission and $2.25 for students.

For tickets call the Southern Playhouse box office Monday-Friday noon-4:30 p.m. at 268-7365 beginning Monday, July 13. The box office will re-open at 7 p.m. on performance nights.

Alcorn prof joins European tour

An Alcorn State University music professor will travel throughout Europe July 3-July 30, 1981, with the American Youth Symphony and Chorus tour.

Dr. Russell Thomas, an assistant professor of music at Alcorn, will be guest soloist with the University of Utah's Jazz Ensemble which will also be on tour.

Dr. Thomas joined the Alcorn faculty in 1974. He received a bachelor's degree in music education from Jackson State University in 1973, a master's in music education from Michigan State University in 1974, and a Ph.D. from the University of Utah in 1980.

Dr. Thomas' career objective is to develop a top quality jazz program and jazz ensemble on the university level. Since his return to ASU he has organized the first university sponsored jazz festival; held jazz clinics; and appeared as guest soloist numerous times.

He was a member of the Mainstream Jazz Quartet, assistant conductor of the university Jazz and Wind Ensemble and an active arranger and composer while at the University of Utah.

One of Dr. Thomas' arrangements will be performed at the Montreux Jazz Festival in Europe. The group is also scheduled to perform in Geneva, Switzerland; Vilnius, Lithuania; Paris, France; and several cities in West Germany.

While at Michigan State, Thomas toured Central America with the East Lansing Dance Troup. He performed as a free lance jazz musician during his stay at the University of Utah.

During the past year, Dr. Thomas has arranged tunes for the Clark Terry Youth Big Band.

He has performed with numerous well known groups and personalities, including Earth, Wind and Fire; the Little Milton Blues Band; the Staple Singers; Millie Jackson; Joe Henderson; and Richie Cole.

Thomas has also studied saxophone with Elaine Zajak, Joe Henderson, Sonny Rollins, Loel Hepworth and John Paul Jones.

Finerty named Chancellor's Scholar

Nineteen University of Mississippi students will receive major scholarships this fall through a new program developed at Ole Miss to recognize outstanding college-level academic work. The students will be called Chancellor's Scholars.

"Most undergraduate scholarships are awarded when students enter the University, usually based on outstanding records in high school," said Ole Miss Chancellor Porter L. Fortune Jr.

"We have set up this new program to recognize and assist students who demonstrate outstanding achievement at the University. Through their dedication to excellence, these young men and women exemplify the ideals that the University seeks to foster, and this new scholarship program will encourage them in their academic endeavors."

To qualify for a Chancellor's Scholarship, a student must be involved in the University Scholars program at Ole Miss and have at least a 3.2 average on a 4.0 scale.

"We have restricted these awards to University Scholars because we consider members of this program to be among our best students; and, because we are working with somewhat restricted funds, we have to consider a smaller group of applicants than the University at large," said Dr. George Everett Jr., director of the University Scholars program and administrator of the Chancellor's Scholarships.

The University Scholars program, which provides special instruction for superior students, was begun in 1953 in the Ole Miss College of Liberal Arts and initially included 24 students.

The program is now open to students in any area of study and has a membership of 183.

"The University Scholars program is part of the University's commitment to provide greater depth for academically outstanding students," Dr. Everett said. "Chancellor's Scholarships are awarded for a one-year period, to be renewed annually as funds allow. The scholarships will be reviewed each semester and withdrawn if a student does not continue to meet the program's requirements, according to Dr. Everett.

Chancellor's Scholars must be full-time, regularly enrolled undergraduate students who maintain an average of at least 3.2 and continue to participate in the University Scholars program. The scholarships may provide up to full tuition for a student, but, when added to other scholarships the student may already receive, will not exceed the total cost of tuition, Dr. Everett said.

Funding for the Chancellor's Scholarships comes from the University's General Fund as well as from donations by Ole Miss alumni and friends. They are awarded by the University Committee on Financial Aids.

Students who will receive the scholarships this fall include: Lisa Susan Bates of Laurel, Virginia; Lisa Boal of Atlanta, Jean Elizabeth Ezell of Stuttgart, Ark., Gary Bernard Mazzanti of Lake Village, Ark., Christopher Lee Lockard of Orange Park, Fla., Allison Brown of Pascagoula, Mark D. Anderson of Okolona, Jamie Elizabeth Ambrose of Columbus, Douglas C.
